THEME OF THE CONFERENCE

Today, citizens wonder what they gain from Europe; the opening of internal borders is questioned by some. However, cross-border employment, the availability of common services and a shared heritage embody a daily and visible Europe that benefits cross-border territories. These laboratories of European integration must contribute to the inhabitants taking ownership of Europe. What ambition should we have for these specific areas that are true territories of European cohesion? What challenges lie ahead? What answers must be found on a local, regional, national and European level?

For its 20th anniversary, the MOT offers to discuss the achievements of 20 years of cross-border cooperation, but also the obstacles that remain and, so as to solve them, the European policies post-2020.

THURSDAY 30TH NOVEMBER 2017

2.00 pm – ARRIVAL AND REGISTRATION

2.30 pm – OPENING STATEMENTS

- Michel Delebarre, Former Minister of State, President of the Mission Opérationnelle Transfrontalière (MOT)
- Anne Sander, MEP, Vice-President of the MOT

03.00 pm – FORUM 1 CROSS-BORDER CITIZENS, EUROPEAN CITIZENS

Every day, millions of people cross internal European borders, to work, study, buy, access services or just to exchange with their neighbours. What hopes, difficulties, and perceptions do these people have? How do they take part in their common cross-border territory? Do border citizens feel European?

Introduction:

- Olivier Denert, Secretary General, MOT
- Magali Castex, Auditor of the IHEDATE, working group "Cross-border citizens in European construction"

Moderator: Véronique Auger, Journalist

- Kotte Ecenarro, Mayor of Hendaye, Councilor of the Basque Conurbation Community, Co-leader of the Basque Eurocity

- Small project funds: Patrice Harster, Director, EGTC Eurodistrict PAMINA
- Citizen experience: Quentin Mayerat, France-Switzerland border

04.30 pm – FORUM 2 CROSS-BORDER ACHIEVEMENTS FOR A VISIBLE EUROPE

To improve the welfare of the inhabitants of cross-border areas, politicians and technicians have developed shared public services (public transport, healthcare, employment and training, economic development, environment, etc.) and cross-border political backing especially with the support of Interreg programmes. What has succeeded and what obstacles remain? How do the achievements of yesterday and today help prepare the cohesion of cross-border territories and a visible Europe for tomorrow?

Introduction: Jean Peyrony, Director General, MOT
